

Dealer Credit Underwriting Solution for Wholesale Finance

Escape the limitations of standard commercial lending tools and procedures. Say goodbye to cumbersome manual processes and makeshift solutions that act as mere “band-aids.” Our innovative solution eliminates the need for such patchwork, offering a sophisticated platform tailored specifically for the intricacies of wholesale financing.

Here's The Problem

Wholesale finance underwriting is highly specialized and complex. It does not fit easily into most standard commercial underwriting platforms. This specialized lending makes it arduous for your organization to complete its credit reviews in an efficient and timely manner.

Optimizing credit decisions with a solution tailored to wholesale lenders can streamline operations, minimize errors, greatly reduce costs, and strengthen data security measures for your organization.

How it Impacts Your Business

Slower credit decisions put your business at risk by losing good customers and prospects due to unnecessary delays.

Human errors made during the underwriting process can result in inaccurate evaluations.

Sensitive customer financial data that may be stored on a credit analyst's desk, hard drive, email, and network drive represent a significant security risk for both the organization and the dealer.

Why Choose DataCision

- Quicker Response Time to Dealer Credit Requests
- Increased Accuracy of Data
- Cost Savings with a More Efficient and Streamlined Process
- Better Understanding of Your Customers
